Sometimes I wish my “powers” were a blessing and not a cure.

periwinklepanther32

Long story short I’ve got auditory issues. Hypersensitive hearing. I can hear things that seem like the faintest or noises to most others, but that all makes loud noises extremely unbearable, to the point where I’m screaming and crying and begging for the pain to stop.

We had a pep rally at school yesterday. I had to be removed from the gym because I was panicking, it was just simply too loud. And the entire school saw. :/ So not only was I in pain, but I was also super embarrassed.

My science teacher told me a few weeks back that maybe I’ll be super special one day because I can hear things that others can’t. I told her probably not since I can’t watch movies or go to pep rallies or concerts like normal kids my age. I really wish I could have fun.

☆ 7

~Periwinkle~

HUFFLEPUFF | GLOBAL NATURE SOCIETY |
SEAWING | INFJ | FANGIRL | SAVETHEWHALES |
| SOULSTEALER | AND MORE!

KalahariRippleStarlingAhiFeardweller
AisuSirpaleAtlantisOceanusFern

"Aw, Deathknights!"

TotS: Maddio, level 60 Archer

Sometimes I wish my “powers” were a blessing and not a cure.

dawndragon1828

One mans man's is anothers treasure

One mans Blessing can be one mans Curse.

So can you participate in Music? or watch musicals?

3

『Mockingjay』

[Joined June 6th 2017]

(☞ﾟヮﾟ)☞ [She/Her] ☜(ﾟヮﾟ☜)

That's a Crazy Idea.
Insane.
It doesn't make sense.
"You'll do it?"
"Of course,"
I replied.

[Star|count:5759]
♪~ ᕕ(ᐛ)ᕗ

Sometimes I wish my “powers” were a blessing and not a cure.

azurelightning71

The only thing I have that can relate to that is anxiety - when I'm around certain objects, I get so scared it's almost painful. But not being able to go to movies or concerts must be awful. I know you've probably already looked for this, but is there anything people could do to cure (or at least decrease) it?

0

Firework
December 2015-March 2019
3992 stars
/357093

Who can say if I've been changed for the better?
But because I knew you
I have been changed
For good

Sometimes I wish my “powers” were a blessing and not a cure.

phoenixdragon1690

Pep rallies are awful when you have mildly sensitive hearing, I'm sorry you have to deal with that.

Honestly it annoys me so much when a character in a book or whatever has increased senses, because they never have the panic attacks and overstimulated breakdowns that they realistically would have.

4

Such is the path of a dreamer: I find my way by moonlight.

~Oncilla~

Queen of Non Sequitur, Bookwyrms, Pangolins, and Bones

Trash Squad, Werewolf, GASTER FOLLOWER

`Writer, roleplayer, nerd`

WoFMBer Dec. 2014-Mar. 2019

Sometimes I wish my “powers” were a blessing and not a cure.

birddinosaur72

I have more sensitive hearing than normal people do, so I know how that feels. Your not alone.

1

Cormorant

She/her

Star count (before Home Base migration): 531

Account created in 2013
Started using the forms in 2017

”Think before you do something, it’ll save you from a detention, also don’t procrastinate”

Sometimes I wish my “powers” were a blessing and not a cure.

moonsteel33

Hey Peri, remember that you have this for a reason. You're going to be able to do something with this someday and it is going to be cool. I know what it feels like to grow up differently from the average kid - just this morning I was feeling kinda weird about it. You've got a purpose, you've got a destiny, and it involves you having this hearing thing that feels like a setback but is really an ingredient. And don't worry about the kids at school seeing you leave - if they tease you about it, it's because they're insecure and want a punchingbag. Just relax, and keep your mind open to any new perspective on the situation that you might come across. hug

☆ 3

Sanetra

11562+ stars - Apr 2017 - Mar 2019

Life is the greatest gift. You've all helped shape mine. I can never thank you all enough. It's been so good.

Amigos
*eureka*DarkseaBearBlackberryVertigoLector*GulfyCaleoZodiak*TS
...I'm with you to the end

Sometimes I wish my "powers" were a blessing and not a cure.

periwinklepanther32

@Mockingjay it depends. Most of the time I can't.

☆ 0

~Periwinkle~

HUFFLEPUFF | GLOBAL NATURE SOCIETY |
SEAWING | INFJ | FANGIRL | SAVETHEWHALES |
| SOULSTEALER | AND MORE!

KalahariRippleStarlingAhiFeardweller
AisuSirpaleAtlantisOceanusFern

"Aw, Deathknights!"

TotS: Maddio, level 60 Archer

Sometimes I wish my “powers” were a blessing and not a cure.

dogchicken819

Sometimes I feel like that too.

I have Dyslexia, and Dysgraphia, which makes it super hard for me to write. But not so much reading.

Dysgraphia (You have really bad hand motor skills, and your writing is worse than a kindergartener’s.)

Duslexia (You can sometimes get the words mixed up. Varies for each case, but on some scales, it can be really terrible, and reading can be a nightmare.)

They say that people with either one of those are really out of the box thinkers, and really creative. But sometimes it does not feel that was, sometimes it feels like a curse.

But curses don’t last forever.

4

Foodle

Sorta kinda here

Sometimes I wish my “powers” were a blessing and not a cure.

phoenixdragon1690

@Murdoc

Actually, sensory issues...kinda are curses that last forever (or at least until death). They don't exactly go away.

2

Such is the path of a dreamer: I find my way by moonlight.

~Oncilla~

Queen of Non Sequitur, Bookwyrms, Pangolins, and Bones

Trash Squad, Werewolf, GASTER FOLLOWER

`Writer, roleplayer, nerd`

WoFMBer Dec. 2014-Mar. 2019

Sometimes I wish my “powers” were a blessing and not a cure.

mermaiddragon1749

I can relate. My hearing is somewhat sensitive, better than most, and probably nowher near as sensitive as yours, but everything is loud. It's hard to concentrate on one thing with a bunch of small conversations going on in my class. Just today, we were doing math and people who finished decided to plat the roll-up piano. I went into a different room and I could still hear it. I handle the noise differently than you do, but I still understand.

0

Zodiak

A quiet voice in a room filled with sound
Another chance, another choice, another go around

Est. 6/25/2016
Exactly 1740 Stars

"Please, remember it all..."

#IStoleSanetra'sCupcakes

Sometimes I wish my "powers" were a blessing and not a cure.

topazdragon945

I have pretty sensitive hearing I suppose, and pep rallies are a nightmare, especially when your homeroom is almost literally in the same room as a bunch of screaming people. I often get panic attacks at them, but I try not to let it show too much and distract myself because I'm afraid people will judge me. I also have anxiety so that helps a ton. My classmates like to scream at that really high frequency that most people can't hear, and I can't really hear it per se, but it does hurt my head a lot, and I tend to cringe when they do it. They see this and continue to do it whilst moving closer to me, making it worse. Even in choir, when we sing some of the high notes, it leaves my ears ringing and my head hurting for a few seconds before I'm okay again, which sucks sometimes.

0

~Topaz

a.k.a. Panic! At the Everywhere

Detroit: Become Human

Gravity Falls
Steven Universe
Imagine Dragons

"Life is not the things that we do, it's who we're doing them with."

Est. 7/15/2016

Sometimes I wish my "powers" were a blessing and not a cure.

dogchicken819

But you can learn to lessen them, or strengthen them.

Dyslexia is a different case.

0

Foodle

Sorta kinda here

Sometimes I wish my "powers" were a blessing and not a cure.

crimsonheatwave42

Yeah, things nowadays are kind of loud and gaudy
But who knows, perhaps one day you'll be thankful to have the extra hearing

0

>)(<Crimson>)(<
Son of Justice
Speak softly and carry a big stick*.*

El Amigo

Please just be okay...

Foolizh autocoreect

SCHOLASTIC
open a world of possible

PRIVACY POLICY • Terms of Use • TM ® & © 1996-2019 Scholastic Inc. All Rights Reserved.